

In logic, a statement is a declarative sentence that is either true or false, but not both. Statements can be simple or compound, and they can be combined with connectives to make new statements:

- Simple statements: Contain a single idea
-
- Compound statements: Contain multiple ideas combined together
-
- Connectives: Words or combinations of words that combine statements to make new statements